

Harrison County
3322 Overton Avenue, Logan

2012

R. E. and Ruth Spencer restored this corncrib in 2002 at a cost of $37,000, complete with a newly-crafted cupola.

Hamilton County
2844 380th Street, Story City

2014

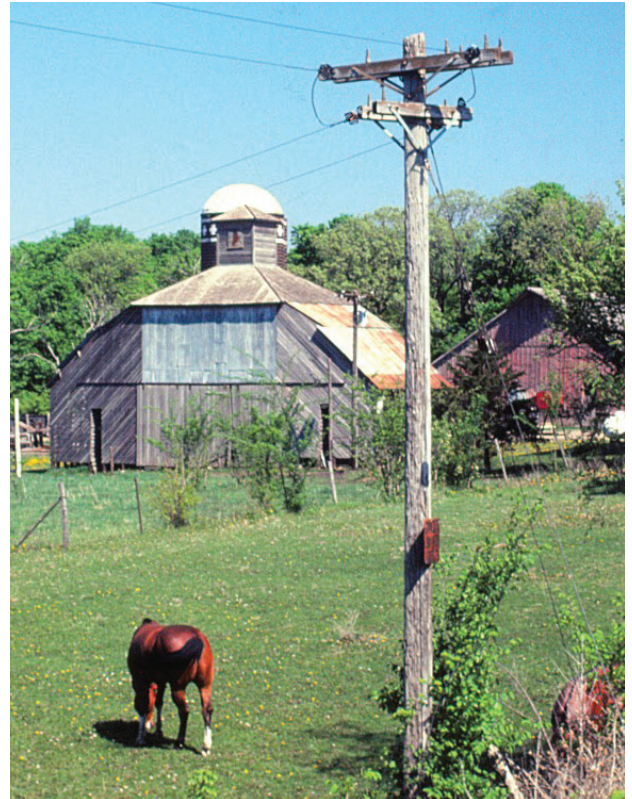

A square yellow corncrib. Corn was stored on the second level as well as the third level. A bucket with a motor was used to transport the corn to the top level. It is now used for storage.

Woodbury County
Whittemore Township, Section 5

2015

Hundreds of corncribs similar to this one still exist although few are used for corn storage today. Built by John and Kathrine Mosbach in 1918, this corncrib it is now used for storage by their grandson D. Michael Mosback and his wife Catherine. Steel siding has been installed on the roof, two sides, and the headhouse.

Kossuth County
Cresco Township, Section 12

1979

This unusual eight-sided corncrib had storage for corn on both sides of a drive-through plus bins in the upper section for oats. George and Marie Scuffman rented this farm for 40 years and bought it in 1975, just a year before he died. It was torn down in the late 1980s.